DONNA, TEXAS

FOREWORD The increase in size, beauty and prolificness of cannas has been so rapid as to make them absolutely the best bedding plant there is.

They will produce more bloom in greater variety and of more surpassing beauty than any other plant that is grown and with less cost and care.

This increase has been done by many experimenters and it means many new varieties with their accompanying duplicates and others so close to old ones as to be almost indistinguishable.

New cannas claimed as especially meritorious, are examined or tested at La Granja, our experiment farm. If poorer than others, the name may be retained but stock goes into the scrap heap. If different or better in any respect, it is retained.

REPLACEMENT If the new canna is similar to an old one or old group in height, leaf, habit of growth, color and character of flower but better in prolificness, substance or size of flower, or some characteristic which makes it better than the old but does not distinctly differentiate it from the old, the old one or group is gradually sold out and the new and better but not distinctly different one, is substituted for the old.

EXAMPLE Thus Parthenope is an old canna with green leaf, growing 5 to 6 feet high, with scarlet red orchid flower but with petals of such poor substance that they hang down and wilt quickly. Atalanta was same in every way but had better substance in petals and was a more sturdy grower. Then Joliet improved on Atalanta in brilliance of color and shape of flower. Mrs. Karl Kelsey was a further improvement and Mrs. Kate Grey a still further improvement. All of these have now been sold out save Mrs. Kate Grey and the fine, strong, beautiful Mrs. Kate Grey is given for the four slightly poorer cannas when these are wanted.

A similar rise of quality is found in Pennsylvania, Louisiana, Prince Wied, New Chicago, Altitude and Uncle Sam which instead of having a scarlet red flower, have a crimson red flower.

THE BUYER Ordering Pennsylvania gets Uncle Sam which is a plant of same height, color of leaf but sturdier in growth, with a flower of same character and color but with larger petals of better substance. He gives his customer the benefit of a careful testing out to select the best that the market affords.

HOW DISTINGUISHED The most improved varieties which are the only ones we grow, are distinguished by being printed in capitals; the others which are similar but not so good, are printed in small letters.

TWO LISTS The first is by color of flower, then by character of flower and height and includes a brief description. The second is Alphabetical, with color of flower so that description can be found.

PRICES, WHOLESALE AND RETAIL The increased costs of labor and everything entering into growing have forced slight advances, though in the case of this business, these costs have been lowered by a larger business and a better utilization of the great advantage of soil, climate, etc., found in this Rio Grande Delta.

Many have been selling cannas for 10c each retail, $1.00 per dozen; where this still seems absolutely necessary, we suggest that it be confined to the mixed cannas and that named varieties be sold at 15c or 2 for 25c for the cheaper varieties and rising higher for the very fine ones and with the increased demand for more beauty around the best homes, we believe a full description perhaps with a handsome cut, will enable you to sell many of the really wonderful new cannas at $1.00 each, $10.00 per dozen and up.

QUANTITIES A half dozen sold at dozen price, 50 at 100 price and 500 at 1000 price. Where assorted lot of not less than 5,000 are wanted, you can make not less than 250 of a variety and get the 1000 prices. Special prices made on car lots.

SHIPPING Unless ordered to contrary, we will ship all lots of less than 100 lbs. by express, all lots of less than 500 lbs. to go after March 1st, by express, all others by freight.

TERMS Thirty days or 2 per cent off for cash sent within ten days of invoice date.

COMPLAINTS Complaints must be made within five days of receipt of bulbs and will then be at once rectified.

CANNA LIST BY COLOR OF FLOWER

CLASSIFICATION First by color of flower, Second by leaf whether green or bronze; Third by height; Fourth by character of flowers in which there are two main varieties tho these melt into each other.

A. Orchid which has one or two large flowers opening at one time which mature, drop off and others open.

B. Truss where the individual flowers are smaller but more open at one time making a truss of bloom of great effectiveness.

There is a third class of foliage cannas where the flower is inconspicuous but the foliage is large and fine.

The older cannas have narrow petals, one-half to one inch across of rather flimsy substance; the later and higher bred cannas have broad, rounded petals of strong substance standing wind well.

GIVING BETTER FOR POORER As already noted, where the older canna differs from a newer one only in quality and not in color or character of flower or leaf or height, we have dropped the poorer one and substitute the better. The ones dropped are in small type, the best ones kept are in CAPITALS.

PALMS Our local business has grown so that now we are growing ten to fifteen thousand palms in 3 or 4 varieties each of the Phoenix or Date Palms, the Washingtonia or Fan Palms, the Chamaerops or Windmill Palms (the Cocos or Coconut Palms, the Sabal or Palmetto Palms, etc., etc. On these, prices quoted on application. The distinctively florist or house palms such as the Kentia and Phoenix Roebellini are not grown here.

SIZE OF BULBS In this favored soil and climate, we have ground storage and dig our bulbs just before shipping getting large, plump bulbs which start growing quickly and soon bring flowers much different from the winter-stored, weary bulbs grown north. Every bulb has at least two eyes and usually three or four and can often be cut into two.

WEIGHT These freshly dug bulbs will weigh from 200 to 300 lbs. per 1000 packed according to variety. Some varieties have larger and sturdier bulbs. Some smaller. It will fairly average 250 lbs. when packed in sacks in 1000 lots and perhaps 300 lbs. when packed in smaller lots to go by express.

GUARANTEE We agree to deliver bulbs true to name but should that rare case come where they are not, we will at once replace with those true to name or pay the amount paid for them but are not liable for more.

SUB-TROPICAL PLANTS Our local business is taking many tropical plants suitable north only for a green-house. We will be glad to send local catalogs and quote prices where such are wanted for green-houses culture north.

OTHER BULBS

TUBEROSES (Polianthes Tuberosa Mexicana) Few know the value and beauty of this variety. They come from the high Central Mexican tableland, have tall, stiff stems, flowers pure white, single, delightfully fragrant, never blight and open in hottest weather, withstand winds and everything save hard frosts. Can be forced. If stalk is cut when first flower opens and put in water, the flower increases in size and whiteness and can be kept a week or ten days.

Stock 25,000, $20.00 per 1000, $2.50 per 100.

DAY LILIES (Hemerocallis) An old-fashioned but always lovely flower growing well anywhere in north. From a tall clump of graceful, grass-like foliage, a stalk shoots up in June or July bearing from 5 to 15 charming lilies of orange or yellow which while they only last a day, keep coming out for over a month.

TAWNEY DAY LILY (Fulva.) Stalks from 1 to 2 feet high, flower 4 to 6 inches across, a golden-yellow in throat melting suddenly to a tawney orange-brown shading lighter at crinkled edges with a fine line of yellow down center.

Stock 15,000, $45.00 per 1000, $5.50 per 100, $1.00 per doz.

KWANSO OR DOUBLE LILY. Same but double and exceedingly lovely in its many voluted petals.

Stock 4,000, $60.00 per 1000, $7.50 per 100, $1.25 per doz.

CRINUMS OR SOUTHERN LILIES

Few know the great beauty of this class of lilies. They will grow in a hot house well and force. If started early, in a green-house most will bloom out of doors in latitude of New York and Chicago in August. If planted out after frost, most will bloom as far north as Baltimore and Cincinnati. Of course they must be protected from frost in the ground and in latitude of Dallas, Nashville, this can usually be done by a winter mulch. North of this, the bulbs should be lifted every winter. Still further south they need little winter protection. Most will stand full sun and they like well-drained soil but lots of water.

ANGEL LILY (C. Fimbriatum) Flower of pure white with streak of delicate pink down center of petals, delightfully fragrant. Blooms in hottest weather.

MILK & WINE LILY (C. Sanderianum) Slightly smaller flower with streak of strong carmine down center.

SPIDER LILY (Hymenocallis Carribbaeum) Allied to Crinums. Flower a pure white, has a tube about 6 inches long, then spreads out to 2 inches in diameter with delicate frilled edges from which come six rays of pure white terminating in yellow pollen anthers. A unique and lovely flower

Price on above three $60.00 per 1000, $7.50 per 100, $1.00 per doz.

CONFEDERATE LILY (C. Kunthianum) larger plant than preceding, leaves often 4 inches broad and 4 feet long. Flower stalk rises 2 1-2 to 3 feet high crowned with umbel of 15 to 25 buds opening into trumpet shaped, hanging down lilies of soft creamy white striped on outside with rich, deep rose fading inside into loveliest sea-shell pink.

LILY OF ORINOCO (C. Kirkii) This plant makes a rosette closer to ground of sword-shaped crinkle-edged leaves from which the flower stalk rises 2 feet with wide opening, white lilies with broad band of deep purple down each petal.

ARGENTINE LILY (C. Ornatum) Same as preceding but flowers are more trumpet-shaped and drooping and band is a cherry-red instead of purple.

Price on above three $100.00 per 1000, $12.00 per 100, $1.50 per doz.

6WHITE CAPE LILY (C. Capense Alba) This is almost an exact duplicate of the Easter Lily but blossoms here from May to July and further north in July and August. Can be forced. Very valuable for florists.

LILY OF THE VIRGIN (C. Virginicum) Large plant. Flowers pure white with the faintest strip of delicate pink down center of petals, large 5 to 6 inches across and opening wide. Very lovely. Fragrant.

LILY OF THE DAWN (C. J. Harvey) Same but flower a delicate rose pink all over. Fragrant.

Price on above three $25.00 per 100, $5.00 per doz.

LILY OF ASIA (C. Asiaticum) Immense plant requiring space of 5 feet in diameter and growing 4 feet high with stiff long leaves and flower stalk 3 to 4 feet high with 30 to 40 buds on opening into flowers similar to Spider Lily but with shorter and stiffer rays and very striking. Pure white and fragrant.

RIO GRANDE LILY OR GREAT MOGUL (C. Augustum) Even larger than preceding and flowers stalk has often fifty buds opening in a long-petaled purple and white lilies very striking. Fragrant.

Price on above two $15.00 per doz.

Some other varieties testing out.

The Lillies of the South

SOUTH AFRICAN LILY

Lilies that love the sun Crinums belong to the family of Amaryllidaceae. They grow in warm moist places and usually in the full sun.

They produce flowers of great beauty in marvelous abundance.

They require a warm soil and moisture.

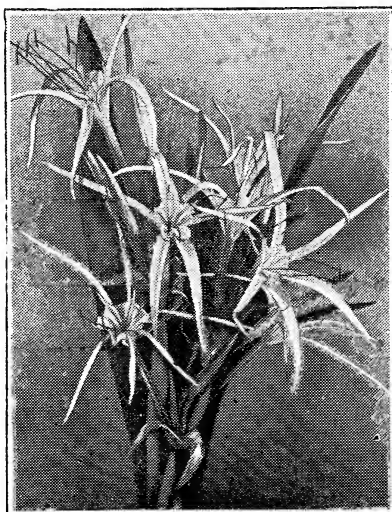

ANGEL LILY

With these growth and flowering is easy.

Their intrinsic merits warrant a far larger use than they now have.

SPIDER LILY

But our continually increasing sales shows that appreciation is beginning. Eleven varieties are cataloged and now grown in quantities. More are being tested and will be listed later.
